Any information contained in this document must not be construed as business advice. No consideration to trade should be made without thoroughly understanding and reviewing the risks involved in such trading. If you are unsure, you must seek professional advice on the same.

In considering whether to trade or authorize someone to trade for you, you should be aware of or must get acquainted with the following:

1. BASIC RISKS:

1.1 Risk of Higher Volatility:

Volatility refers to the dynamic changes in price that a security/derivatives contract undergoes when trading activity continues on the Stock Exchanges. Generally, higher the volatility of a security/derivatives contract, greater is its price swings. There may be normally greater volatility in thinly traded securities/derivatives contracts than in active securities/derivatives contracts. As a result of volatility, your order may only be partially executed or not executed at all, or the price at which your order got executed may be substantially different from the last traded price or change substantially thereafter, resulting in notional or real losses.

1.2 Risk of Lower Liquidity:

Liquidity refers to the ability of market participants to buy and/or sell securities/derivatives contracts expeditiously at a competitive price and with minimal price difference. Generally, it is assumed that more the numbers of orders available in a market, greater is the liquidity. Liquidity is important because with greater liquidity, it is easier for investors to buy and/or sell securities/derivatives contracts swiftly and with minimal price difference, and as a result, investors are more likely to pay or receive a competitive price for securities/derivatives contracts purchased or sold. There may be a risk of lower liquidity in some securities/derivatives contracts as compared to active securities/derivatives contracts. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or may be executed with relatively greater price difference or may not be executed at all.

1.2.1 Buying or selling securities/derivatives contracts as part of a day trading strategy may also result into losses, because in such a situation, securities/derivatives contracts may have to be sold/purchased at low/high prices, compared to the expected price levels, so as not to have any open position or obligation to deliver or receive a security/derivatives contract.

1.3 Risk of Wider Spreads:

Spread refers to the difference in best buy price and best sell price. It represents the differential between the price of buying a security/ derivatives contract and immediately selling it or vice versa. Lower liquidity and higher volatility may result in wider than normal spreads for less liquid or illiquid securities/derivatives contracts. This in turn will hamper better price formation.

1.4 Risk-reducing orders:

The placing of orders (e.g., "stop loss" orders, or "limit" orders) which are intended to limit losses to certain amounts may not be effective many a time because rapid movement in market conditions may make it impossible to execute such orders.

- 1.4.1 A "Market" order will be executed promptly, subject to availability of orders on opposite side, without regard to price and that, while the customer may receive a prompt execution of a "market" order, the execution may be at available prices of outstanding orders, which satisfy the order quantity, on price time priority. It may be understood that these prices may be significantly different from the last traded price or the best price in that security/derivatives contract.
- 1.4.2 A "Limit" order will be executed only at the "limit" price specified for the order or a better price. However, while the customer receives price protection, there is a possibility that the order may not be executed at all.
- 1.4.3 A Stop loss order is generally placed "away" from the current price of a stock/derivatives contract, and such order gets activated if and when the security/derivatives contract reaches, or trades through, the stop price. Sell stop orders are entered ordinarily below the current price, and buy stop orders are entered ordinarily above the current price. When the security/derivatives contract reaches the pre-determined price, or trades through such price, the stop loss order converts to a market/limit order and is executed at the limit or better. There is no assurance therefore that the limit order will be executable since a security/derivatives contract might penetrate the pre-determined price, in which case, the risk of such order not getting executed arises, just as with a regular limit order.

1.5 Risk of News Announcements:

News announcements that may impact the price of stock/derivatives contract may occur during trading, and when combined with lower liquidity and higher volatility, may suddenly cause an unexpected positive or negative movement in the price of the security/contract.

1.6 Risk of Rumours:

Rumors about companies/currencies at times float in the market through word of mouth, newspapers, websites or news agencies, etc. The investors should be wary of and should desist from acting on rumors.

1.7 System Risk:

High volume trading will frequently occur at the market opening and before market close. Such high volumes may also occur at any point in the day. These may cause delays in order execution or confirmation.

- 1.7.1 During periods of volatility, on account of market participants continuously modifying their order quantity or prices or placing fresh orders, there may be delays in order execution and its confirmations.
- 1.7.2 Under certain market conditions, it may be difficult or impossible to liquidate a position in the market at a reasonable price or at all, when there are no outstanding orders either on the buy side or the sell side, or if trading is halted in a security/derivatives contract due to any action on account of unusual trading activity or security/derivatives contract hitting circuit filters or for any other reason.

1.8 System/Network Congestion:

Trading on exchanges is in electronic mode, based on satellite/leased line based communications, combination of technologies and computer systems to place and route orders. Thus, there exists a possibility of communication failure or system problems or slow or delayed response from system or trading halt, or any such other problem/glitch whereby not being able to establish access to the trading system/network, which may be beyond control and may result in delay in processing or not processing buy or sell orders either in part or in full. You are cautioned to note that although these problems may be temporary in nature, but when you have outstanding open positions or unexecuted orders, these represent a risk because of your obligations to settle all executed transactions.

2. As far as Derivatives segments are concerned, please note and get yourself acquainted with the following additional features:

2.1 Effect of "Leverage" or "Gearing":

In the derivatives market, the amount of margin is small relative to the value of the derivatives contract so the transactions are 'lever-aged' or 'geared'. Derivatives trading, which is conducted with a relatively small amount of margin, provides the possibility of great profit or loss in comparison with the margin amount. But transactions in derivatives carry a high degree of risk.

You should therefore completely understand the following statements before actually trading in derivatives and also trade with caution while taking into account one's circumstances, financial resources, etc. If the prices move against you, you may lose a part of or whole margin amount in a relatively short period of time. Moreover, the loss may exceed the original margin amount.

- 2.1.1 Futures trading involve daily settlement of all positions. Every day the open positions are marked to market based on the closing level of the index / derivatives contract. If thezcontract has moved against you, you will be required to deposit the amount of loss (notional) resulting from such movement. This amount will have to be paid within a stipulated time frame, generally before commencement of trading on next day.
- 2.1.2 If you fail to deposit the additional amount by the deadline or if an outstanding debt occurs in your account, the stock broker may liquidate a part of or the whole position or substitute securities. In this case, you will be liable for any losses incurred due to such close-outs.
- 2.1.3 Under certain market conditions, an investor may find it difficult or impossible to execute transactions. For example, this situation can occur due to factors such as liquidity i.e. when there are insufficient bids or offers or suspension of trading due to price limit or circuit breakers etc.
- 2.1.4 In order to maintain market stability, the following steps may be adopted: changes in the margin rate, increases in the cash margin rate or others. These new measures may also be applied to the existing open interests. In such conditions, you will be required to put up additional margins or reduce your positions.
- 2.1.5 You must ask your broker to provide the full details of derivatives contracts you plan to trade i.e. the contract specifications and the associated obligations.

2.2 Currency specific risks:

2.2.1 The profit or loss in transactions in foreign currency-denominated contracts, whether they are traded in your own or another jurisdiction, will be affected by fluctuations in currency rates where there is a need to convert from the currency denomination of the contract to another currency.

- 2.2.2 Under certain market conditions, you may find it difficult or impossible to liquidate a position. This can occur, for example when a currency is deregulated or fixed trading bands are widened.
- 2.2.3 Currency prices are highly volatile. Price movements for currencies are influenced by, among other things: changing supply-demand relationships; trade, fiscal, monetary, exchange control programs and policies of governments; foreign political and economic events and policies; changes in national and international interest rates and inflation; currency devaluation; and sentiment of the market place. None of these factors can be controlled by any individual advisor and no assurance can be given that an advisor's advice will result in profitable trades for a participating customer or that a customer will not incur losses from such events.

2.3 Risk of Option holders:

- 2.3.1 An option holder runs the risk of losing the entire amount paid for the option in a relatively short period of time. This risk reflects the nature of an option as a wasting asset which becomes worthless when it expires. An option holder who neither sells his option in the secondary market nor exercises it prior to its expiration will necessarily lose his entire investment in the option. If the price of the underlying does not change in the anticipated direction before the option expires, to an extent sufficient to cover the cost of the option, the investor may lose all or a significant part of his investment in the option.
- 2.3.2 The Exchanges may impose exercise restrictions and have absolute authority to restrict the exercise of options at certain times in specified circumstances.

2.4 Risks of Option Writers:

- 2.4.1 If the price movement of the underlying is not in the anticipated direction, the option writer runs the risks of losing substantial amount.
- 2.4.2 The risk of being an option writer may be reduced by the purchase of other options on the same underlying interest and thereby assuming a spread position or by acquiring other types of hedging positions in the options markets or other markets. However, even where the writer has assumed a spread or other hedging position, the risks may still be significant. A spread position is not necessarily less risky than a simple 'long' or 'short' position.
- 2.4.3 Transactions that involve buying and writing multiple options in combination, or buying or writing options in combination with buying or selling short the underlying interests, present additional risks to investors. Combination transactions, such as option spreads, are more complex than buying or writing a single option. And it should be further noted that, as in any area of investing, a complexity not well understood is, in itself, a risk factor. While this is not to suggest that combination strategies should not be considered, it is advisable, as is the case with all investments in options, to consult with someone who is experienced and knowledgeable with respect to the risks and potential rewards of combination transactions under various market circumstances.

3. TRADING THROUGH WIRELESS TECHNOLOGY/ SMART ORDER ROUTING OR ANY OTHER TECHNOLOGY:

Any additional provisions defining the features, risks, responsibilities, obligations and liabilities associated with securities trading through wireless technology/smart order routing or any other technology should be brought to the notice of the client by the stock broker.

IDFC FIRST Bank policies and procedures in Currency Derivatives

a) Refusal of orders for penny stocks:

This is not applicable to IDFC FIRST Bank as a trading member in the currency derivative segment of the Exchange.

b) Setting up client's exposure limit:

The Client is liable to pay applicable initial margins, withholding margins, special margins or such other margins as are considered necessary by the Bank or the Exchange or as may be directed by SEBI from time to time as applicable to the segment. The Bank is permitted in its sole and absolute discretion to collect additional margins (even though not required by the Exchange, Clearing House/Clearing Corporation or SEBI) and the client shall be obliged to pay such margins within the stipulated time. Payment of margins by the client does not necessarily imply complete satisfaction of all dues. In spite of consistently having paid margins, the client may, on the termination/maturity of a contract, be obliged to pay (or be entitled to receive) such further sums as the contract may dictate/require. The Bank may require the client to provide such margin (in such form and manner as acceptable to Bank) depending on the contract and market volatility on different contracts as it deems fit in its sole discretion after taking into account any governing regulations, as necessary for risk mitigation. The Margin would constitute the security towards due performance of the client's obligations, commitments, operations, obligations and liabilities arising out of or incidental to any transactions made, executed, undertaken, carried out or entered into by the client through the stock broker. This margin requirement may be more than the margin prescribed by any Exchange. The Margin may be taken in cash or in form of securities as may be acceptable to the Bank. The client agrees that the Bank may, in its sole discretion, change the margin requirement on outstanding contracts depending on its own risk mitigation measures. In case of upward revision of the margin requirement, the client agrees to allocate additional margin (in form of cash or securities as may be acceptable to the Bank) to continue with open position taken in connection with the contracts undertaken by the client. In case of shortfall in margin/limits made available for trading, the open positions may be squared off by the Bank, at its discretion. In case of change in margin requirement by the Exchange, the Bank may immediately require the client to provide additional margin and the client undertakes to provide the same without delay. In case the margin requirement is not met with, the Bank reserves the right to square off the open positions taken by the client. In case of any shortfall on square off, the client authorizes the Bank to recover the said monies from the client's bank account(s) and if the funds in the bank account(s) are insufficient, by selling available collateral of the client possessed by/under the control of the Bank and if the realized funds are insufficient, then the client agrees to pay the balance amount due forthwith and without demur, on a demand being made by the Bank. The client agrees to abide by the exposure limits, if any, set by the Bank or by the Exchange or Clearing Corporation or SEBI from time to time.

c) Applicable brokerage Rate:

The rate of Brokerage charged by IDFC FIRST Bank shall not exceed the maximum permissible brokerage stipulated by Exchange/SEBI. IDFC FIRST Bank may charge a brokerage for all trades facilitated on NSE and BSE or any other recognized exchange of which the Bank is a Member. Brokerage rate may vary from client to client, as per the terms agreed with the client at the time of registration or by way of any subsequent written agreement between the client and IDFC FIRST Bank Ltd.

The slab rates of brokerage fixed by IDFC FIRST Bank may be function of the quality and cost of services provided to the client and the volume and revenue expected from a relationship. It shall be reviewed by IDFC FIRST Bank once a quarter, if required and may be changed in such manner as IDFC FIRST Bank may deem fit provided that the same would not contradict the regulatory provisions.

The brokerage shall however be exclusive of other statutory levies such as service tax, STT, stamp duty, if any, etc.

d) Imposition of penalty/delayed payment charges:

If Bank does not receive the margin money within the intimated/stipulated payment due time, the same would be recovered by marking a temporary overdraft in the client's current account, whereon interest will be charged as per the prevailing applicable rates.

e) Liquidation Policy: (The right to sell client's securities or close client's positions, without giving notice to the client, on account of non-payment of clients dues and conditions under which a client may not be allowed to take further position or the broker may close the existing position of a client for reasons as deemed fit by IDFC FIRST Bank)

Without prejudice to IDFC FIRST Bank's other rights (including the right to refer the matter to arbitration), IDFC FIRST Bank shall be entitled, without giving notice to the client, to:

- (i) liquidate/close out all or any of the client's positions and adjust the proceeds of such liquidation/close out, if any, against the clients' liabilities/obligations; and/or
- (ii) prevent any new orders from being placed and/or executed by the client, for:
 - (a) shortfall in margin requirements, non payment of margins or other amounts including the pay-in obligations, outstanding debts, settlement obligations, etc., or
 - (b) failure to remit amounts to client's bank account(s) in cases where IDFC FIRST Bank has provided overdraft facility.

The client shall ensure timely availability of funds in form and manner at designated time for meeting his/her/its pay in obligation of funds. The client may note that the Bank may be compelled, in circumstances of extreme market volatility, to square-of all or any outstanding positions, prevent any new orders from being placed and / or executed by the client or take such other action as may be deemed fit and proper, even without calling for any payment from the client and without any prior intimation to the client.

f) Shortages in obligations arising out of internal netting of trades

IDFC FIRST Bank as a trading member shall not be obliged to pay any money to the client unless and until the same has been received by the Bank from the exchange, the clearing corporation/clearing house or other company or entity liable to make the payment and the client has fulfilled his/her/its obligations first.

Clients are required to make Funds pay in on or before payment due time prescribed by Exchanges. In case the client defaults on its existing obligation and in the event of delays in the payment of margins/net obligations the open positions will be netted/squared off by IDFC FIRST Bank as mentioned in the above point and the client may not be allowed to take further positions as deemed fit by IDFC FIRST Bank.

For options trading, on trade execution, the buyer will be required to pay premium which will have to be settled in cash on next day. The settlement will be netted with MTM of currency derivatives by exchange. The premium to be paid to the seller on next day will be withheld till the shortfall on the margin is funded by the client.

g) Temporarily suspending or closing a client's account at the client's request or otherwise:

The client is required to submit written request for closure of account or for temporary suspension of account clearly stating period of suspension, to the Bank. Such request has to be accompanied by a prior notice period of not less than seven days for temporary suspension or thirty days for closure of account, provided by the client to IDFC FIRST Bank. Upon receipt of request and after satisfying itself with respect to all information/documentation and settlement of client dues, the Bank shall act upon the request within reasonable time.

IDFC FIRST Bank may close/suspend the trading account of client pursuant to any regulatory directive or as required under law.

IDFC FIRST Bank also reserves the right to temporarily suspend an account or close an account for reasons that it may deem fit. However, for closure of account IDFC FIRST Bank shall provide the client with a prior notice period of not less than thirty days. Notwithstanding any such closure, all rights, liabilities and obligations of the parties arising out of or in respect of transactions entered into prior to the closure of account shall continue to subsist and vest in/be binding on the client or his/its respective heirs, executors, administrators, legal representatives or successors, as the case may be.

h) Deactivation of client password

As per current system functionalities, a client account is automatically deactivated from trading if there is no login to its trading ac-count for 15 days. The password gets deactivated if there is no activity for consecutive 15 days. For reactivating the account, client shall mail/fax (from indemnified addresses) IDFC FIRST Bank. On receiving instruction from client, IDFC FIRST Bank shall reset the password and intimate the same to client as per process of communication of login id/password. The client agrees that IDFC FIRST Bank may deactivate the client's account without any advance notice to the client if:

- (i) It becomes unlawful for the client or any person (including IDFC FIRST Bank) to perform any of their respective obligations; or
- (ii) Any term or condition in the documents governing the provision of investment and trading services by IDFC FIRST Bank to client (for the purpose of this clause, hereinafter referred to as "Documents") is required by any law to be amended, waived or repudiated; or
- (iii) Any obligation under the Documents is not or ceases to be a valid and binding obligation of any person or becomes void, illegal, unenforceable or is repudiated/breached by such person (other than IDFC FIRST Bank).

i) Deregistering a client

IDFC FIRST Bank has the discretion to continue the relationship. The client agrees that the Bank may at any time discontinue the service under the Client Registration Documents, by giving not less than thirty days notice.. The client may at any time terminate the arrangement by not less than thirty days notice to the Bank. Notwithstanding any such termination, all rights, liabilities and obligations of the parties arising out of or in respect of transactions entered into prior to the termination of this Client Registration Documents shall continue to subsist and vest in/be binding on the respective parties or their successors and assigns/ permitted assigns, as the case may be.

j) Inactive accounts

A trading account in which no trades are done in the currency derivatives segment of any Exchange for six months would be termed as "Inactive" or "Dormant" trading account. IDFC FIRST Bank does not freeze any "Inactive" or "Dormant" trading account. However any trade emanating from such trading accounts pursuant to the same being classified as "Inactive" or "Dormant" trading account would be subject to necessary due diligences and confirmations as IDFC FIRST Bank may deem fit.
